PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, OCT. 21, 1833.

NEW YORK AND OHIO.—We learn that the elections in Ohio have resulted favorably to the friends of Martin Van Buren. This we think not at all strange. There is a very intimate connection between the "empire State" and Ohio. The former State furnishes capital, digs canals, and makes rail road for the latter, and it is not surprizing, therefore, that she should also exercise a powerful influence over her politics.

The enterprize, the ambition, and the funds of New York, are fast diverting, through Ohio, that immense stream of transportation and travel which formerly passed through Pennsylvania; and it is but natural that there should be a strong feeling of gratitude entertained by the people who enjoy the advantages of this change.—But it would be a matter of wonder, indeed, if the yeomanry of Pennsylvania were to contribute to the further advancement, and to the increase of the influence of this great State, whose commercial interests are directly opposed to those of "the key stone."

The affections of the citizens of Cuyahoga, and Portage, and Starke, and other counties in Ohio through which the canal passes, and through which the proposed rail road is to pass, will naturally be drawn towards the State whose capital and interest have so greatly benefited them. We, therefore, are not surprized to find that the friends of the magician have triumphed in Ohio, but we would have thought it strange if, the same party had succeeded in Pennsylvania. Our yeomanry, it is true, are not remarkable for their sagacity in perceiving the true interests of the commonwealth —it seems, however, that at the recent election, they had shrewdness enough to understand and reject the intrigue and management of Martin Van Buren. It is probable that the number of his friends in the next legislature will be fewer than in the last.—We confess that we are gratified with this result, and if it shall eventuate as the American Sentinel expects, that Samuel M'Kean will be elected, we will view this as half a victory.—Since the election, we have been told that two of our own members, at least, will be supporters of M'Kean. If this should prove correct, we think it highly probable that we will be about as well pleased with their election, as the editor of the Mercury, although we did not labor in their cause.

We were well pleased with Mr. M'Kean's open and manly and unequivocal condemnation of the Magician of Kinderhook, and his election, now, to the Senate of the United States will, and ought, to be viewed as a direct approval of his letter, and as a positive concurrence in the opinion that Mr. Van Buren is "devoid of political integrity"—that he is distinguished by the "grossness and servility of his fawning professions of attachment" to Gen. Jackson, and that his "cunning" renders him "dangerous."—It will also be considered as a decisive intimation that Pennsylvania will not become a submissive follower in the wake of the "empire State."

MR. CLAY'S TARIFF BILL.—The first of the following paragraphs is an useful hint to statesmen as to the impolicy of an attempt to appease popular clamor by concession; and the second is a practical comment upon this hint.

Mr. Clay might as well, as our first extract says, have attempted "to slake a fever thirst by wine," as to appease nullification and treason by concession.

Eventually, the M'Duffies, and Hamiltons, and Coopers, of South Carolina, must be met by something more imperative than concession, and the sooner the better. This malignant spirit, as if fostered by concession, has, it seems, extended itself into Georgia, and secured the election of a Governor in that state.

Without impugning Mr. Clay's motives, we must continue to doubt the wisdom of his course; and time, we fear, will make that history, which was only prophesy.

Concession to Popular Clamor.—We may as well hope to slake a fever thirst by wine, as to appease popular clamor by concession. Statesmen, who make no distinction between public opinion, the offspring of reason and right, born in full time, and a clamor, the spurious abortion of treason and folly, destroy the rock upon which the government is based, and found it upon a bed of sand.—Gleanings from a Scrap Book.

Elements.—The following is the concluding paragraph of Mr. M'Duffie's letter, in a reply to an invitation to partake of a public dinner, proffered by the citizens of Columbia county to those delegates who voted against "the force bill"—Mr. M'Duffie declined the invitation.

"I cannot, however, forego my privilege of expressing my opinion of that measure, for voting against which, you propose to do honor to a portion of your representatives. I believe it is a practical subversion of the fundamental principles of our government, and an utter destruction of all the guarantees, which secure to the people of the Southern States their most sacred rights. It may be said, almost without a figure, that it is the sword of Damocles suspended over us by a hair. In my opinion, the Southern States should never cease to exert themselves, in every form, to have this bloody enactment obliterated from the page which it blurs and disgraces. For my own part, I never will consent to live under the military despotism which that act has created; and if these are the only terms upon which the Southern States can be associated, the sooner we dissolve the connection, the better."—Philad. Herald, Oct. 17.

Difference of Opinion.—The last Lancaster Journal, a Van Buren paper, says—

"From the complection of the returns of the members elected to our State Legislature, we have no doubt but that Gen. M'Kean will be permitted to remain where he is, and a real friend of the administration at Washington will be sent to represent Pennsylvania in the Senate of the United States."

DIED,

This morning, after a lingering illness, in the 61st year of his age, WILLIAM M'CANDLESS, Esq., Prothonotary of the District Court, and Court of Common Pleas of this county. He has been for 60 years a resident of this city and county; has held many high and responsible situations, and has uniformly been esteemed one of our most respectable citizens.

The friends of the family, and citizens generally, are respectfully invited to attend his funeral, to morrow afternoon, at 4 o'clock, from his late residence, corner of Evans' alley and Liberty street.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, October 16.

Yesterday, we received our papers, says the Courier, brought by the packet ship John Jay, Capt. Glover, which sailed from Liverpool on 8th ult. The latest London dates are of the 6th, and the Liverpool of the 7th of September.

No later accounts had been received in England from Portugal, and we, of course, have no further information on the state of affairs in that country.—The young queen Donna Maria was expected in England, after having been allowed to traverse France, though traveling in her own name, without the slightest attention on the part of the government. This neglect is still attributed by some to her refusal to marry the second son of Louis Phillippe, in consequence of having fixed her affections on the Duke of Leuchtenberg, her mother in law's brother. It is stated in a Havre paper that the Duke had repaired to that place incognito, for the purpose of meeting his sister and Donna Maria, but that an order was sent him to quit Havre immediately. Another journal, however, states, that he was living in the same hotel with the queen, without meeting with any difficulty from the government.

Be this as it may, it is not improbable that the king of the French was desirous to promote an alliance between Donna Maria and his son. In the position he stands, it would be a desirable event, inasmuch as it would serve to strengthen him on his throne, and flatter the pride of the French people; but on the other hand, it is equally probable that England would not have looked at a connection with pleasure, which would no doubt result in weakening the ties which have so long connected her with Portugal, and enabled her to exercise a paramount influence over the politics of that country.

There is a Bayonne account from Spain that the Duke de Cadoval had gone over with his troops to Don Pedro, and that Don Miguel had retired into Spain; but it is most likely, nothing but a stock jobbing manœuvre. Nor are the accounts of the state of the health of the King of Spain of a nature to be depended on.

Our correspondent at Brussels details the state of affairs in Germany and Switzerland. Much importance is attached by some of the continental journalists, to the meeting of the Emperors of Russia and Austria, but we cannot think with any reason.

The papers are filled with afflicting details of the effects of a most violent gale on the coast of England and France, Belgium and Holland, on the 31st August and 1st September.—Besides the convict ship, the Amphitrite, of whose loss we were already informed, and by which 100 female convicts perished, an English East Indiaman, loaded with indigo, and a Dutch vessel with 600 hogsheads of sugar, have been also lost, with numerous coasting vessels, steam boats, &c. In short, the destruction of life and property appears to have been immense. Advices from Ostend had been received in London, which stated that an American vessel, outward bound, had been lost off Dunkirk with 180 passengers, all of whom had perished. We are happy to add, however, that the last London paper received, says, "We trust, and have reason to believe, that this account will prove unfounded."

The tempest had also inflicted great injury on the orchards, gardens, and particularly on the hop grounds throughout England.

Marshal Clausel, who has been going to Algiers for the last six months, has at last left Pars on his way to that place. The Marshal had always the notion that the Government of Algiers would be offered to him after the departure of the late Duke de Rovigo, and many of his friends have manœuvred so as to bring about his appointment; but the Marshal persisted in keeping a seat at the left extremity of the Chamber of Deputies up to the very close of the session, thereby committing an enormity which the juste milieu is never disposed to forget, so that he is left to visit Algiers only as a private individual. All the accounts coming from the French possessions on the African coast show that many years must elapse before the French can indulge the hope of remaining undisputed masters of them.—The expedition which has been for some time in preparation at Toulon, and to which many persons assigned Portugal as a destination, now appears to be bound to Bougia, a small fortified seaport, situate about 40 leagues east of Algiers, and 18 leagues northeast of Constantine.

IMPORTATION TO ALGIERS.—Louis Philippe has published an ordinance, declaring that French vessels may import directly from foreign countries into the French establishments on the western coast of Africa, iron, wrought iron, steel, and gunpowder of all kinds, free of duty.

DOVER, Sept. 5.—Monsieur Thiers, Minister of Commerce, landed here this evening, and proceeded to London immediately.

The Director General of the French Post Office has given notice that all letters from France to the British settlements in Asia, America, and all other countries beyond the sea with which England keeps up regular communication by packets, may henceforth be sent through England from the Post Office in France, on paying the usual postage of letters by estafette, with the addition of the postage charged for each letter from its place of destination. The public are directed to write upon all such letters, the words "Voice d'Angleterre."

PARIS, Sept. 1.—Our expresses that left Bayonne on the 28th, bring the following news:—

"Two extraordinary couriers on their way from Madrid to Paris arrived here last night, and left despatches for the Spanish Consul in this town—since their arrival reports very favorable to Don Pedro have been in circulation. If we can credit them, it should seem that after a pretty serious skirmish between the troops of Bourmont and Count Villa Flor, and which is stated to have been wholly to the advantage of Don Pedro, the Duke de Cadaval, with the greater part of his troops, made his submission to Don Pedro, and that Don Miguel had, in consequence of this unpleasant event, retreated to Campo Mayor, the last town in Portugal towards the Spanish frontier, and not far from Badajoz. It should even seem that these couriers have brought the intellegence of the entrance of Don Miguel with his staff into Spain. Nothing at all is said of Bourmont."

The Memorial Bordelais of the 30th ult, contains the following—"We have received the following important intelligence from Spain. The Court of Madrid is in an extraordinary state of agitation. The Queen has received positive information that M. Zea keeps up a secret correspondence with Don Carlos, whom the Northern Powers wish to continue in Portugal, in order that he may be near at hand should King Ferdinand expire. Indignant at these dark machinations, the Queen has urged His Majesty to dismiss M. Zea, and replace him by the Duke of San Fernando, and also to enter into an alliance with England and France; but the King, being weak and timid, cannot come to any resolution, but maintains his temporizing system, keeping his Minister in order that he may not offend the Holy Alliance. It is, however, hoped that on the arrival of the Infanta Charlotta, from St. Sebastian, he will be induced to come to some determination. The priests are spreading a report throughout the country that the Emperor of Russia has engaged his daughter to the eldest son of Don Carlos, and promised to unite Portugal to Spain and bring it under the sceptre of Charles V. Unfortunately, the ignorant and credulous population of Spain are not sufficiently aware of the intrigues of the apostolics."

HENRY CLAY.

If it were possible that any thing could add infamy to the already infamous character of that common slanderer of all that is honorable in the country, the Washington Globe, it would be the following notice of Mr. Clay's visit to this section of the country. It is well known, that with the exception of a short visit to this city, on official business, in 1827, Mr. Clay has not been east of Pennsylvania since 1818! He declined coming last summer, because he was a candidate for the Presidency, and now, when he complies with the urgent solicitation of his friends, and ventures to visit the most populous and flourishing section of this great Republic, he is thus assailed by the common libeler of the Globe, who lives, moves, and has his being upon the patronage of the government. Is it not a reflection upon our country that a hireling, thus paid and supported, should be permitted to assail all who are respectable in the country, and yet continue to be the "organ of the Administration?"

From the Globe, Oct. 14.

MR. CLAY AND THE BANK DIVAN.

Mr. Clay, it seems, has gone to Philadelphia.—His visit had been expected earlier, and the Bank presses announced his progress some time before it was commenced. Such was the anxiety of his patron, the Bank, to avail itself of his counsel in the painful circumstances into which he had bro't it. It is well known that Messrs, Clay and Sergeant, and their friends of the Baltimore National Republican Convention, made it a sine qua non with the Bank managers, that they should demand a charter, and enlist for the electioneering campaign, as the price of the future support of the National Republican party. Mr. Biddle heartily engaged in the alliance, and dashed into the war, purse in hand. He has, at last, shared the fate of his confederates, Messrs. Clay and Sergeant. The public purse is taken from this triumvirate, as far as the deposits are concerned, and the worthy peers are now holding a Divan at Philadelphia, to concert measures to revenge their disgrace, as there is little hope of retrieving their affairs. It is a praiseworthy solicitude which has brought Mr. Clay, at this moment, when the Bank is in extremis. "He can give consolation, if he cannot succor."

The best rebuke that could be given this insolent slanderer, is to be found in the unanimous vote of our Jackson Common Council, placing the Governor's Room at the service of Mr. Clay, during his stay in the city. It is in these words:

"The Board of Aldermen being informed that our distinguished fellow citizen, the Hon. HENRY CLAY, would shortly make a visit of some days to this city, it was unanimously resolved, that the Governor's Room, in the City Hall, be tendered to Mr. Clay, for his use, while in the city, and that the Clerk of the Common Council transmit to Mr. Clay a copy of this resolution."

In addition to this, our fellow citizens generally, without distinction of party, vie with each other in demonstrating their respect for this distinguished statesman, whose name is honorably and inseparably connected with the most trying periods in the history of our country.

Extract from the Seventh Annual Report from the President and Directors to the Stockholders of the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road Company.

"In the Sixth Annual Report, the Board of Directors announced the satisfactory result of the improvements that had been made with the engine of Davis & Gartner, constructed with Cooper's vertical boiler—many further experiments, however, were necessary, and much remained to be done, before the Board could feel themselves authorized to order engines upon this plan. The first engine was necessarily an experiment. The exact proportion of the parts could only be determined by constant use—and for some time after the engine commenced running, frequent alterations were found to be necessary to obtain the strength, lightness, and compactness, united with general efficiency, essential to the success of the machine. This, however, has been finally accomplished, and the Board feel satisfied that they have obtained, by the perseverance of those in their employment, an engine better adapted to the purposes of this road, than any other yet invented.—The engine in question is as manageable as the best English engines, possesses much more power, with the same weight, works with equal, or very nearly equal, facility, on a curved and straight road, presents all its parts to the eye of the Engineer, as he occupies his stand, burns the anthracite coal with great facility and powerful effect, and evaporates more water in a given time, and is liable to far less injury from wear and tear, than any other known engine. The objection ag inst the English engine of the present construction, is, that the tubes of its horizontal boiler are frequently bursting, by which, not only is the expense of repairs incurred, but the bursting of a tube at once extinguishes the fire, leaving, some times, the engine and its train in the middle of their journey. In the vertical boiler, used by this company, and the right to use which they have purchased from the ingenious inventor, Peter Cooper, Esq., all this is entirely avoided. In the horizontal boiler, the fire is at one end, where, of course, the greatest quantity of steam is produced, and the density of the water is the least; so that the tubes, where most exposed to the action of the heat, are least protected from it; and the fact is, that the tubes commonly all burst within a few weeks.—Various attempts have been made to remedy this, by producing a circulation in the water of the boiler, but hitherto, it is believed, without success. In the vertical boiler, on the contrary, the water on the outside being colder than that which is near to the tubes, descends towards the fire, and passes up again in bubbles of steam to the steam chamber, to exert its expansive power in pressing the water of the boiler downwards to the very place where the intense heat of the anthracite coal renders every protection necessary which can be afforded to the bottom of the boiler, and to the tubes. In the upright boiler, therefore, without the intervention of complicated machinery to obtain a circulation, it is produced in the most efficient manner, by simple and natural causes. Some idea may be formed of the value of the vertical boiler, adopted by the Board from the fact, that after twelve months' use, with anthracite coal for fuel, not one of the tubes of the Atlantic engine has given way, and, to all appearance, they are now as sound as when first put in. For a further account of the performances and power of this engine, see report of the Chief Engineer, appendix, Document D, and of the Superintendent of machinery, Document F.

The "Traveler" Engine, which was first put upon the road on the 10th of October, and which, like the Atlantic, has a vertical boiler, fully answers all the anticipations that were entertained of its performance, mentioned in the report of the Chief Engineer. The attaching of the pinion, through which the power is communicated to the wheels to a separate shaft, has fully answered the purpose of giving steadiness to the machinery, and will no doubt very materially diminish its wear and tear. The "Traveler" is an excellent illustration of the propriety of devoting every attention to the vertical boiler engine, and exhibits numerous points of superior excellence over its predecessor, the Atlantic. When it is considered, that the horizontal boiler engine, of England, has been brought to its present excellence, after the experience and experiments afforded by its constant use for a long time, and that it is, as may be safely said, inferior in point of durability, and power to generate steam, to the first attempts with vertical boilers, it is not unreasonable to believe, that the latter will supersede all others, and every effort will forthwith be made, to put a competent number upon the road."

THE STEAM BOAT GEORGE WASHINGTON.—The Buffalo Journal contains some further particulars of the loss of this boat. It appears that the engines, which were made at Pittsburgh, failed, and she became unmanageable, and notwithstanding every effort of Captain Walker and his crew, she was driven ashore.—The furniture, and a considerable part of the machinery will be saved. The taptain and all who were on board, with the exception of one passenger, remained on board until she sunk, when some swam to the shore. Mr. Van Orthrop jumped over before the boat grounded; he was drowned in the attempt to reach the shore. The baggage was mostly lost.—There is no blame to be attached to her enterprising captain or his crew. They did their utmost to preserve her; throwing out the anchors after the engine failed, in the vain hope of riding out the storm, which was one of the most severe ever known upon our lakes. The loss, some sixty thousand dollars, will be severely felt by the proprietors.—Poulson.

FROM MALAGA.

Captain Darrell, of the brig Repeater, arrived at the port of Baltimore, in thirty days from Malaga, reports that the cholera had broken out in many parts of Spain, which had caused great alarm at Malaga. Two days previous to the Repeater's sailing, soldiers had been placed around the town to prevent any and all communication with the country, in consequence of which, it was supposed that the merchants would sustain heavy losses, they having contracted largely for fruit and made liberal advances, and it not being now permitted to enter the town.—Poulson.

The epidermis letter from Mr. John Randolph to Governor Hamilton, of South Carolina, is likely to be brought out.—U. S. Gaz.

"The lovers of French Wines will be pleased to learn that the vintage this year in France is one of the best that has been known for several years past. The quality of these Wines is almost equal to that of the celebrated year of the comet, whilst the quantity is much larger, and even beyond that of what is called an average year. It is expected that there will be a fall of about 20 per cent. in the prices of the finer description of Wines. In Champagne already the Wines which were sold at 50 francs per dozen, are now offered at 30; and the commoner sort of Champagne Wine, which were frequently sold in England as high as 72s. per dozen, are offered at 27 francs, delivered at Calais."

ERUPTION OF MOUNT VESUVIUS.—The Notizie del Giorno of Rome gives the following account of new phenomena presented by Mount Vesuvius:—"On the 12th of August, in the afternoon, crevices of the width of several feet were remarked round the whole circumference of the old crater. On the following night, a thick column of smoke rose to about a mile in the air, and went in the direction of Gastelmars. At three in the morning, on the 13th, three torrents of lava, issuing from the opening formed in April last, rapidly descended in the direction of Torre del Greco, dividing in different streams. At five o'clock, two other streams, proceeding from the same crater, rushed down towards Crocella del Cantaroni.—It was remarked, that two days previously, the water in the wells at Resina had begun to decrease considerably. At half past seven, a loud noise was heard repeatedly, in the interior of the mountain, and the rapidity of the lava increased. At one o'clock in the afternoon, three shocks in Mount Vesuvius caused the houses of the neighboring communes to vibrate, whilst a white column, tinctured with red by a flame which was seen moving inside, rose to a considerable height opposite the rays of the sun. This column had entirely disappeared at six in the evening."

Extract of a letter, dated

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 10.

Rumors of dissensions in the Cabinet, and expected explosions are very prevalent. It is certain that the new views thrown out by the President, through his private organ and tutor Amos Kendall, in which he converts his cabinet counsellors into slavish instruments have chilled the devotedness, and disappointed the expectations of the Secretaries; and I know not by what inducements they may be constrained any longer to hold offices, the condition of which is the sacrifice of all personal and political independence. It will not much surprise me if General Cass cuts himself loose—Mr. M'Lane may find the salary of his office too convenient to be lightly relinquished; but I believe he has, at least, high mindedness enough to feel that while he continues to receive it, he will be a degraded man in the eyes of the country.—Delaware Journal.

It is remarkable that Capt. Hamilton, the English traveler, should derive one of his most forcible arguments, in relation to the weakness of our government, from the tendency of Nullification to dissolve the Union. Hear him on this point:

"In truth, every year must increase the perils of this federal constitution. Like other bubbles, it is at any time liable to burst, and the world will then discover that its external glitter covered nothing but wind. It may split to morrow on the Tariff question, or it may go on, till, like a dropsical patient, it dies of mere extension, when it remains will probably be denied even the decent honors of a Christian burial. It was near giving up the ghost at the time of the Hartford Convention, and is now in a state of grevious suffering from the Carolina fever. It will probably survive this attack as it did the former, since the great majority of the States are at present in favor of its continuance. But, with the prevalence of the doctrine of nullification, it is impossible it can ever gain much strength or vigor. If each State is to have the privilege of sitting in judgment on the legality of its measures, the range of its legislation must necessarily be very confined. It will puzzle the integrity of American statesmen, to discover some policy which will prove palatable to the various members of the Union, and which all interpreters of the Constitution will confess to be within the narrow limits of its powers.

Let us suppose in England that every county asserted the privilege of nullifying, when it tho't proper, the acts of the British Parliament. Leicestershire would summon her population in convention to resist any reduction of the foreign wool duty. Kent and Surrey would nullify the hop duty. Lay a rude finger on kelp, and a distant threat of separation would be heard from the Orkneys. Dorset and Wilts would insist on the continuance of the corn laws, and wo to the Chancellor of the Exchequer who should venture to raise the highland war slogan by an impost on horned cattle. Yet, in Great Britain there exist no provincial jealousies, and the interests of the whole kingdom are far more intimately amalgamated than can ever be the case in the U. States."

Political Parties.—At no former period, within our recollection, have parties exhibited a more perplexing and unsettled aspect. The distinctive names, which heretofore, in some measure, indicated their principles, and by which they were recognized, are no longer heard. They are annihilated and forgotten, and in their stead is substituted the name of some popular or ambitious manager. The consequence is, that the people are called upon to rally under the banner of an individual, instead of the banner of their country.—They are thus degraded from the proud position of political parties, contending for some great principle, to personal parties, contending for the elevation of a favorite leader; and he too, perhaps, a selfish and unprincipled demagogue. Is this republican? Is it becoming the character of freemen? Does it not exhibit the appearance of vassals chained to the car of their chieftain, whose livery they wear, and whose name they gloriously adopt?—Phila. Com. Her.

MR. RITCHIE.—This friend of President Jackson, and advocate of his measures, cannot, it seems, agree with the President touching the removal of the deposits. He says:

"It seems to us that the President disclaims all desire to dictate to the Secretary of the Treasury —but only to press upon him his own "view of the considerations which impel to immediate action."—If these views were not conclusive upon the mind of the Secretary, it appears to us, that the President ought to have been content with doing his duty, and leaving the responsibility where the law had left it, in the hands of the Secretary. The President might have, in the mean time, obtained information as to the best mode of depositing the public moneys in the State Banks. For this cause alone he should not have removed the Secretary, and appointed a substitute. A people, jealous of its liberties, should watch the exercise of the Executive powers, and particularly where the public purse is concerned. The most virtuous Chief Magistrate may be led into error. His very virtues may betray him. His indignation against the abuses of others may prompt him to the adoption of a remedy which he erroneously considers within the strict line of his duty."

The Newburyport Herald says:—

"The Richmond Enquirer is the leading Jackson paper in Virginia. Its editor, however, cannot, and does not approve of the President's recent assumption with regard to the deposits.—And he is right. The President ought to "have left the responsibility where the LAW had left it." For any dissent in regard to such removal on the part of the Secretary, "he should not have removed" him. The Enquirer is right; and we are glad to see it is honest. That man, who does not express his disapprobation of the recent act of the President, in terms as strong at least as those used by the Enquirer, is either ignorantly or wilfully the supporter of despotism."

African Emigration.—Pursuant to the declared purposes of a meeting, held a few days ago in Albany, measures are in active preparation in that city for the purpose of raising a sum sufficient to convey one hundred emigrants to Liberia, and to provide for their support during six months after their arrival, on a place to be hereafter designated, and to be named Albany.

SIX EGYPTIAN MUMMIES

In the Diamond, next door to the office of The Pittsburgh Gazette.

THE features of some of these mummies are in perfect expression—the hair of the head preserved as if now living. For the direct purpose of giving visitors, of all descriptions, that wish to see the ancients themselves, and likewise the bodies that were embalmed not less than three thousand years ago, this collection was exhibited to a numerous concourse of visitors, in the city of Philadelphia, for the space of 3 months; and next in Baltimore, in the Museum, for five weeks, where contract was only made for two weeks, and continued for five weeks by request. The inhabitants of this city, it is hoped, will call, and patronize a collection worthy the attention of the curious.

The proprietor is authorized to use the names of the most eminent physicians and professors in the city of Philadelphia, and likewise that of Baltimore.

Public Sale of Real Estate.

IN pursuance of an order of the Orphan's Court, of the county of Allegheny, will be exposed to Public Sale, at the Court House, in the city of Pittsburgh, on Monday, the 21st day of October next, at 11 o'clock, A. M., the following described Real Estate, late the property of Oliver Ormsby, deceased, viz:—

1st. All that certain piece of land, situate in St. Clair township, on the Brownsville road, between 3 and 4 miles from the city of Pittsburgh, now occupied by Mrs. Nelson. This tract contains 49 acres, and 144 perches. There are upon it about 35 acres of cleared land; a substantial hewed log house, two stories high, and a fine bank of coal. It is bounded by land late of Henry Baldwin and others, and is part of a tract formerly owned by Fulton, and which was divided among the said Oliver Ormsby, Henry Baldwin, and William Wilkins.

2d. All that certain tract of land, situate on the south side of the Monongahela river, in Mifflin township, now occupied by Fergus Dempsey and George Ramsey. This tract contains, by the patent, 209¾ acres, and is bounded by land of Johnston Glass, Daniel Reisher, heirs of Robert Hays, Joseph West, and others, and by the river. There are about 150 acres of bottom land on this tract: the well known Ferry, called 'The Six Mile Ferry,' is also upon it. Nearly all the bottom land is cleared. The buildings are as follows, viz: —a log tavern house and barn at the Ferry, and a large frame barn, and a frame dwelling house upon the part occupied by George Ramsey. If desired by purchasers, the tract would be sold in two parts, to be divided by the run.

☞ The titles to these tracts are indisputable.—Any information, respecting the land, or the titles, can be obtained from the subscribers. Terms at sale.

TO ENGINEERS.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Subscribers, who resides in Tennessee, wishing to erect a Rolling Mill, at Louisville, Ky., Nashville, Tennessee, or some intermediate point, as may be deemed most advisable, is desirous of informing himself as to the cost of such an establishment, capable of rolling TWELVE TO FIFTEEN HUNDRED TONS OF IRON, of the various descriptions embraced in a general assortment.

As the location of the Mill is yet undetermined, a FULL PROPOSAL is not expected; we will, however, receive Estimates of the cost of the Engine and Machinery, and probable cost of the building; the Contractor to furnish ALL except the ground on which the building shall be erected. The mill to be delivered ready to go into operation. Such Estimates, expressing the terms of payment, and time required for the completion of the work, handed to the subscribers, on or before the 30th inst., shall be submitted at once, and it is presumed that the most favorable offer will result in a contract.

RIDDLE, FORSYTH & Co.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 12.

PIANO FORTES.

MR. TAYLOR respectfully announces to the citizens of Pittsburgh, that he has just received an assortment of PIANO FORTES, from the celebrated manufactory of Robert Nunns, Clark, and Co. (late R. & W. Nunns,) of New York, which he offers to the public at a fair price, and liberal terms.

The instruments of this most extensive establishment have (for quality and volume of tone, and for materials and workmanship) received the decided approbation of the most distinguished professors of this country and Europe. The manufacturers therefore feel confident in resting their claims to public patronage upon the intrinsic merits of the Piano Fortes themselves.

FLUTES.

Also, a few of 'Taylor's approved' Flutes; these instruments are well worth the attention of the Amateures of the Flute.

☞ Ladies and Gentlemen are invited to call and examine the above instruments, at Cook and Schoyer's (late Sylvester's) store, corner of Wood and Third streets, where they will remain but a short time, Mr. Taylor's stay in this place being limited. Oct. 7, 1833.

LATE PUBLICATIONS.

THE New American Orchardist; or an account of the most valuable varieties of Fruit, adapted to cultivation in the United States, from latitude 25° to 54°, with their uses, modes of culture, and management, remedies for the maladies to which they are subject from noxious insects and other causes; also, a brief description of the most ornamental forest trees, shrubs, and flowers. By William Kenrick.

The Analogy of Religion, Natural and Revealed, to the constitution and course of Nature. By Joseph Butler, L. L. D., late Lord Bishop of Durham.

Elements of Criticism; by Henry Home, Lord Kaimes, Judge of the Court of Session, Scotland, &c. &c., with an analysis and translations of ancient and foreign illustrations.

Evenings at Home—or the Juvenile Budget opened; consisting of a variety of Miscellaneous Pieces for the amusement and instruction of young persons. By Mrs. Barbauld and Dr. Aitken—new edition—illustrated with Plates.

Sept. 28, 1833.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscribers, Trustees of the New Philadelphia Society, at Phillipsburgh, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, offer for sale the following property, to wit:

1	tract of land	containing	330 acres
1	do	do	330
1	do	do	67
1	do	do	7
1	do	do	40
other lots, containing about			6

The above lands lie in one body, fronting about two miles upon the Ohio river—immediately opposite the mouth of Big Beaver creek, and the Beaver Division of the Pennsylvania Canal. The land is rich, and a part of it under a high state of cultivation—its location pleasant and healthy. The improvements upon the same are valuable, including the town of Phillipsburgh, late the residence of Count Leon, and the New Philadelphia Society. The town contains about 40 Dwelling Houses, now in order; some of them brick houses and two stories high. A large and spacious Hotel, a Store house, Church, a number of Shops, for mechanics, Stables, Barns, and other out houses. Also, two large new buildings, lately erected, but not yet finished, one of brick, the other of frame (the latter suitable for a manufactory) a very extensive public garden, and also fruit trees of various kinds. The property has also attached to it the right of a ferry across the Ohio, which is valuable, and becoming more so every day.

The above property is situated in the midst of a wealthy and prosperous country, distant about 28 miles below Pittsburgh, and one mile from Beaver, the seat of justice for Beaver county—and having a view for many miles up and down the Ohio, and of the country to a great distance around.

The subscribers are confident in saying that few situations could be found, presenting greater facilities to the farmer, mechanic, the manufacturer, and others—a soil rich and productive—the neighborhood abounding in coal—well timbered and watered, and, by means of the Pennsylvania Canal, and steamboat navigation, a cheap and ready conveyance to market, and a communication with other places is ensured.

The property is susceptible of divisions into farms, or for the location of new towns, or for the extension of the present one.

Should it not be sold on or before the first day of January next, it will then be offered at public sale, upon the premises, to the highest and best bidder.

It will be sold in a body, or in parcels, to suit purchasers.

Terms of sale will be reasonable.

Information can be had by enquiring of the subscribers, two of whom live in the neighborhood, and one on the premises.

PERIODICALS.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL, and Advocate of Internal Improvements, which is designed as a repository of the accounts of the rise and progress of numerous works of Internal Improvement, in the United States particularly, and in other parts of the world generally. The work is published weekly, and forms a large octavo volume each year, of 832 pages of 3 columns each, for $3 per annum, in advance.

New York Farmer, and American Gardener's Magazine. This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Published in monthly parts of 32 large octavo pages, with three columns each, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States—In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

HAT MANUFACTORY,
NO. 6 ST. CLAIR STREET,
PITTSBURGH.

WILSON & SMITH, from N. York,

RESPECTFULLY inform the citizens of Pittsburgh and the neighboring towns, that they have commenced the manufacture of the above beautiful and elegant article, so much admired and worn throughout Europe, and the principal cities in the United States.

W. & S. beg leave to observe, that, after various experiments, they have at last succeeded in bringing this Hat to the highest state of perfection, and they can assert, with confidence, that in point of color, lightness, elasticity, durability, and general beauty of appearance, they cannot be surpassed by the most expensive Hat that is made. Gentlemen are invited to call and examine them, and judge for themselves.

Wholesale Dealers supplied at the same prices as in the New York markets.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞ A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale the farm on which he lives, in Washington county, on Pigeon creek, one mile south of Williamsport, on the Monongahela river, to which there is a perfectly level road. This farm contains near 400 acres, the greater part of which is first rate land. There is on the premises a Brick Dwelling House, a Merchant mill, in good repair, a new saw mill, a stone still house, 35 by 40 feet; a salt works is also in operation, and worked to advantage; about 150 acres of land cleared and under good fence. There is on the premises three small tenements for the accommodation of families. This tract is well timbered, and abounds with stone coal and springs of water, both of the best quality.

To a person wishing to embark in a manufacturing business, and possessing capital, this would be a very desirable situation, having the advantage of both water power from Pigeon creek, and banks of the very best coal near to the works, and easy of access, and its vicinity to so navigable a river where articles of any kind are so cheaply transported to Pittsburgh.

For further particulars, apply to James P. Stuart, Merchant, Wood street, Pittsburgh, or to the subscriber on the premises.
